“Geodrill delivered stable revenue, strong cash flow and a robust increase in earnings per share despite the impact of wet season in West Africa. Our results are a testament to the stability and resiliency of our business model. Consistent with this disciplined model, we generated strong cash, maintained our capital discipline, and improved our effective tax rate that underpins our strong balance sheet,” said Greg Borsk, Chief Financial Officer of Geodrill.

“In light of the uncertain economic conditions, commodity prices remain strong and gold prices continue to surge bolstering the demand for our drilling services. These positive market conditions are driving higher activity levels, increased drilling utilization rates and improved pricing. Recent contract wins and contract extensions in Cote D’Ivoire, Ghana, and Mali with new and existing customers, is a reflection of the strong drilling environment.

During the quarter, we advanced our growth strategy and are in the final stages of signing our first drilling contract with a global mining company in Peru. We remain confident in our strategic direction and continue to see positive trends as a result of our prudent growth and the strategic initiatives we are undertaking. With the end of wet season, we are expecting increased activity levels in the fourth quarter. We believe our broad scale, operational depth and financial strength positions us well to keep pace with the current momentum in the sector and generate greater returns for our shareholders,” said Dave Harper, President and CEO of Geodrill.

Non-IFRS Measures

EBITDA is defined as Earnings before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization and is used as a measure of financial performance. The Company believes EBITDA is useful to investors because it is frequently used by securities analysts, investors and other interested parties to evaluate companies in the industry. However, EBITDA is not a measure recognized by IFRS and does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by IFRS. EBITDA should not be viewed in isolation and does not purport to be an alternative to net income or gross profit as an indicator of operating performance or cash flows from operating activities as a measure of liquidity. EBITDA does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by IFRS and therefore may not be comparable to similarly titled measures presented by other publicly traded companies, and EBITDA should not be construed as an alternative to other financial measures determined in accordance with IFRS.

Additionally, EBITDA is not intended to be a measure of free cash flow for management's discretionary use, as it does not consider certain cash requirements such as capital expenditures, contractual commitments, interest payments, tax payments and debt service requirements. Please see the Company's MD&A for the three and nine months period ended September 30, 2020 for the EBITDA reconciliation.
